Who's Most Likely To...
36 Thanksgiving cards

How to play

READ ME FIRST

Thanksgiving Bingo

1. Give each player a card and a few markers (dried beans, corn kernels or candy work well).
2. Cut out the caller slips, fold them and put them in a bowl. Or tick words off the caller board.
3. The caller draws one slip at a time and reads it out. Players cover that word.
4. The middle square is free. First to get five in a row (across, down or diagonal) shouts "Gobble!" and wins the round.

Twist: play "four corners" or "full card" for a longer game.

Thanksgiving Trivia

1. Print one quiz per player or team.
2. Circle one answer for each question. Set a timer (15 minutes is plenty) or play at your own pace.
3. Swap papers and mark them with the answer key. One point per correct answer.
4. Read out the fun facts as you go: they start great table conversations.

The Gratitude Game

1. Cut out the 36 cards and stack them face down by the pie.
2. Take turns drawing a card and answering it out loud. There are no wrong answers.
3. Pass to the left. Keep going until dessert is served (or the cards run out).

Little ones can answer with a drawing on the back of a card.

Who's Most Likely To...

1. Cut out the 36 cards and shuffle them.
2. One person reads a card aloud: "Who's most likely to..."
3. On "3, 2, 1" everyone points at the person they think fits best.
4. The person with the most fingers pointing at them keeps the card. Most cards at the end is crowned Table Champion.

Keep it kind: it's all in good fun.

Printing tips. Print on plain paper or card stock, at "Actual size" or "100%" (not "Fit to page"). Choose the US Letter file in the US and Canada, A4 everywhere else. Print only the pages you need: bingo cards are pages 3–17, caller slips 18–19, trivia 20–22, gratitude cards 23–26, "Most likely" cards 27–30.

What's inside. 30 unique bingo cards (2 per page), caller slips + caller board, a 30-question trivia quiz with answer key, 36 gratitude cards and 36 "Who's most likely to" cards.
